Catholic School for Boys in the Edmund Rice Tradition

18th Mar, 2016. Newsletter 4/16

Why Science?

The Sciences have been increasing in popularity at St Peter's for a number of years. In fact, this year two thirds of our Year 12 students in both NCEA and CIE have chosen to study Physics. This increased interest in Physics, Chemistry and Biology contrasts with many other schools where students are opting out of these subjects in worrying numbers.

I believe there are several factors which have led to this positive trend at St Peter's. Science is taught here exceptionally well by highly qualified and enthusiastic teachers. There is a critical lack of specialist teachers in these key subjects nationally, so we are very fortunate at St Peter's to have such expert practitioners.

Additionally, boys are introduced to specialised Science classes in laboratories from Year 7; this is where that real spark and love of the subject is born. Finally, many parents encourage their sons down the Science route in the expectation that this will lead to specialised degrees in Engineering and Medicine, culminating in careers in these important fields.

Whatever the reason it is tremendous to see so many students opting into the Sciences. Our boys do however need to be mindful that the courses are difficult and demand consistent commitment: not all who opt into the Sciences achieve at the levels required.

- Just a reminder that our formal uniform becomes mandatory after Easter. Seniors will be in blazers, ties and trousers, with Juniors in ties.
- Congratulations to our Kapa Haka, Tongan and Samoan Cultural groups for an impressive Maori + Pasifika Cultural night on Monday. A report on Polyfest will feature in our next newsletter.
- The Fair is on this Sunday from 11am – our thanks to our wonderful parent team for their extraordinary efforts in the organisation of this event. Let's pray for fine weather!

From the Deputy Headmaster (pastoral care) Brett Fricker

Pastoral Care is about the well-being, physically and emotionally, of your son. It is about ensuring he is in the best possible space to maximise his learning opportunities and gain the qualifications he needs to progress beyond the College. To this end the Weekly Engagement Report (WER) is a key indicator of his engagement in a classroom as it can quickly show whether he is in the right space to learn.

The report will look at key factors like completing homework, participation in class activities, attitude to learning within the class and reading around the specific subject being taught. If your son is not in a focussed space to do these things, the WER will highlight that there is a problem. Here at school his teacher and/or his Head of Year may intervene by having a proactive discussion around why he is not engaged. This discussion may be extended to a meeting with you and your son to further discuss solutions and attempt to get your son back on track with his learning.

If these interventions do not work, the Head of Year may also issue a consequence such as a detention to try and get your son back into the right space. A worst case scenario may see a meeting with me which may then lead on to a meeting between parents and student with the Headmaster. It is therefore important that all parties communicate with each other to ensure the right course of action is taken with your son should he show signs of being unengaged. At the end of the day we are all working together to ensure your son's successful future.

Middle School Camp

In a world where schools are turning away from taking camps or outdoor activities as the dangers and risks are becoming too much, St Peters College has had a wonderful last few weeks with our Year 7 and 8 students on camp.

We are very fortunate to have teachers who are willing to put the extra time and effort into planning the logistics of running a camp; making sure that the correct forms are filled out, ordering food, picking up supplies and ensuring that boys get a good night sleep, are all part of the job for staff leading up to and during camp.

Students enjoy the variety of activities out of the classroom and get to see another side to their teachers. Obviously getting muddy, kayaking and the survival course are a few of the favourites, though the high ropes is always a test of nerve. As our boys work through the challenges they see how much they can achieve with perseverance.

The Middle School staff believe that it is a great opportunity for young men to grow and learn more about themselves, whilst overcoming their fears, and to realise the importance of being a positive and active team member. Camp allows potential leaders a chance to demonstrate the skills which will one day make them the future leaders of St Peter's.

I would personally like to thank all the parents who gave up their time to be helpers on the camp, running activities, preparing food and administering first aid. Without them the camps could not run and St. Peters appreciates everything they did. Having so many fathers come on camp was fantastic to see. It is important that our young students have good role models and with fathers being present on camp they can learn that to be a good man is about serving others, showing respect to both students and adults and wanting the best for all.

Year 7 Camp

On Tuesday the 8th of March at 7am, 207 students and Adults met in the school Hall ready to depart for Half Moon Bay. The Hall was full of excitement and curiosity. Once at Half Moon Bay we quickly departed for Rangitoto Island as we had an hours long walk in to Camp, situated on the other side of Motutapu Island. Once at camp we were placed in our Dorms and greeted and briefed by Gav and his team of wonderful instructors.

At 1:30pm the horn went and we were in to our first activities. Thankfully many of us were headed straight to one of the many water based activities. Before we had enough time to collect our thoughts our plates were filled with some delicious nachos. Of course not as good as Mums but not far off it Mr Maskery.

The following days ensured many new experiences, where we had the opportunity to lead, work together and learn from others.

During camp we were lucky enough to have the support and encouragement of 24 parents who gave up their time and energy. We would like to thank all these parents and staff for making camp a memorable experience.

In my opinion the best activity was snorkeling, with the best meal being, Hamburgers.

A Tired but Happy

Musicians - Where are they now?

St Peter's College has seen a lot of brilliant young musicians pass through its ranks. It has provided excellent facilities for musical training for many years which allows boys to carry on with the profession in later years. I got in touch with some previous students of the St Peter's Music Department to shed some light on their current endeavours.

- Samuel Verlinden is a recent graduate of St Peter's College, graduating as Music Prefect for 2015. He has released many hit singles and appeared on shows such as the Erin Simpson Show and Sticky TV. Since leaving St Peter's he received a Scholarship from AUT to study a Bachelor of Communications. He also received a scholarship from ANZ to write and create a music video for his single "I just wanna love you". This video spread throughout the country and featured dancing from "Parris Goebel", a group which also featured in Justin Bieber's music video for "Sorry". Sam is currently in the process of writing songs for a future album.
- On the topic of Justin Bieber, James Wong is credited to have wrote a song on Justin Bieber's Latest album "Purpose" after graduating from St Peter's in 2004.
- Samuel McCarthy and Jordan Arts, students of the early 2000's, won the Smokefreerockquest with their band Incursa. Deciding to pursue their passion for music, they formed their own band. Their band, Kids of 88, was signed to a worldwide record deal with Sony Music in 2010, and they won Single of the Year and Music Video of the Year at the 2010 New Zealand Music Awards. They have since toured with Ke$ha, released two albums and numerous music videos and even appeared on MTV's show "Teen Wolf".
- Taka Vuni, Christian and Austin Malietoa Brown, Fred Lewis, Liava'a Kulu. Since leaving St Peter's in various years, these old boys have formed their own choral group, "Klapa Samoana" which has toured

New Zealand, Croatia, Australia. Taka, Christian and Austin have all come back over many years to teach the next generation of young choral singers at St Peter's. Taka is also studying classical voice at Auckland University.

- David Robertson is currently studying a Bachelor of Music in Classical Flute Performance and Liberal Arts Conjoint at Auckland University, and now plays 2nd Flute for the Auckland Youth Orchestra.
- Davyd Antipov won the 2014 Rönisch Auckland Secondary Schools Piano Competition, and is currently studying a Bachelor of Music in Classical Piano Performance at Auckland University.
- Kenny Keppel is currently in his second year studying a Professional Performance Programme at the Australian National Academy of Music (ANAM). Kenny achieved a scholarship to attend the academy, which is an extremely sought after and prestigious institution only for the finest musicians in Australasian, meaning Kenny is playing in a world class establishment at an international standard. After leaving in 2010, Kenny pursued his love of music, spending 4 years in the Auckland Youth Orchestra and playing in the NZSO National Youth Orchestra Concert Series for July of 2014, as well as doing the NZSO Fellowship Programme in 2014, in which he spent a full year studying with and working alongside the members of our national orchestra. He also studied for 4 years in a Bachelor of Science/Bachelor of Music conjoint degree.
- Erinc Yikar started teaching Saxophone at St Peter's after he became an old boy in 2010. He left in early 2016 to pursue his studies at Auckland University
- Tom Taylor, finished bachelor's degree in Jazz Performance at Auckland University and now teaches percussion at St Peter's.
- Lewis Wheatley is currently studying jazz guitar performance at Auckland University
- Shannon Coulomb graduated in Jazz performance at Auckland University, and now teaches music at Manurewa High School.
- Donald Saw continued in music, completing music teaching degree at Auckland University. Since then, he has taught in New Zealand, England, Dubai and now teaches at an International School in Vietnam.

There are many more SPC old boys that kept being involved in music in one way or another and we will keep you updated about them and their lives in music.

Having seen all the examples of the quality of musicianship that has passed through this school, the Music Department encourages the students of St Peter's to take advantage of the facilities and programmes available to you, and to participate in your music classes and ensembles. You never know where your instrument can take you.

Patrick Hayes - Music Prefect
