A Reflected Experience

Kia Ora, Tena Koutou, Katoa.

There is something about a sabbatical which provides for a reflected experience. After all as someone said - All experience is not all good experience. But reflected experience...?

And so on my sabbatical last term I used the tools which help provide for a reflected experience. For me these are walking and intellectual input.

May I share part of my sabbatical with you?

1. Walking in Israel. The journey started walking along an ancient trail from Nazareth to the sea of Tiberias. It is called the Jesus Trail and follows the journey of Jesus towards Jerusalem.

I walked through dusty often unmarked roads, through olive and Pomegranate trees, through places which ooze with familiar biblical sounding names and over hills which never seemed to end ... one foot after the other. Day after day. Alone but never lonely.

And of course that is the experience of parenting adolescent men. Walking with your son through dusty (smelly?) uncharted territory. The daily journey of parents being a taxi driver, a counsellor, a judge, etc ... day after day, one foot after the other.

I stayed in the West Bank away from where the ruling elite with guns and power, keep a nation of people suppressed.

2. I walked, again, the Camino Frances and the 900 kms from the base of the Pyrenees in France to Santiago De Compostela in western Spain. All my life possessions reduced to the 9.1 kgs on my back. Day after day. One foot after the other for 34 days. Alone but never lonely.

It was a walk over never ending mountains, though the wine rich regions of Navarra and Rioja, through towns and villages where time and investment stopped during the crusades; through the wind swept dry abandonment of the meseta, through industrial towns, through farmland and through the rainy regions of Galicia to the joy of arriving at a cathedral mass in Santiago.

It is a walk which transforms the person walking.

The Camino journey is, of course, so reflective of life and school life in particular.

The daily uphill struggle of parents, teachers and boys on the learning journey. The dry abandonment of personal mistakes and failure of parents, boys and teachers. The beautiful sustained pleasure when learning happens for parents, boys and teachers.

And that satisfied joy of success at the end of the learning journey.

I recommend this experience to any parent.

3. I attended an international conference at Harvard University in Boston on "Closing the Gap: Excellence with Equity".

Internationally respected educators taught effective teaching methods, on the global picture of educational inequality and the strategies all schools should use to lift every student, regardless of race or gender.

One of the most effective strategies in lifting school achievement is to close the gap between family and school. The "enrolment of the family" is a mantra I contributed to the discussion.

The three parts of my sabbatical were hard yet energising.

- Hard to be assaulted with the daily inequality of people in Israel but energising in discovering my Judaic Christian tradition.

- Hard to walk 900kms but energising in the physical and spiritual uplift of the Camino.

- Hard to read academic research articles, but energising in being a learner among learners.

I will miss St Peter's College next year. The energy of the boys, the generous support of families and parents and the collegiality of capable and energising teachers.

My thanks to Mr Bentley as Acting Headmaster who lead St Peter's with integrity, direction and calmness. And to Mr Fricker as Acting Deputy Pastoral Care, Mr Kingdon as Acting Associate Headmaster. Our grateful thanks to these men.

Reminders:

- Chapel raffle books to be sold by each boy.
- Parent teacher interviews for each family.

Good to be back home in NZ!

Treacy House - 'Fit For Mission'

Above: Tom, John, Hamish, Lucas, Matt, Jarrod and Campbell working hard on their mulch pile.

The St Peter's College motto going into the year 2015 was "I will show you my faith through my works" and going into the new initiative for house leaders this year called "Fit for Mission." Treacy house teacher Mr Kalinowski suggested we do a cleanup of some sort that would fit this description and give back to our local community. Initially, it was tough finding hosts to what we desired in terms of our outreach, however, with some investigative work done by Mr Kalinowski we found that the Auckland city council was happy for us to work with their City Parks team at the Auckland Domain. After all the things we find the Domain useful for (Middle School sports, SPC rugby, cricket, soccer), it was only fair that we give back to it seeing that it has been of great value to our school over so many years.

Above: All the boys and teachers looking ready to go on the last session.

The staff at the Domain were extremely helpful and grateful giving us all the information we needed in terms of dates, providing tools (wheelbarrows, shovels, rakes) and the health & safety briefs.

After communications between the staff and students, it was decided the dates 3rd, 10th and 17th of May were suitable, with each being a 2 hour session adding to 6 hours of service in total. The guideline being to aim to get 20-30 people there each week to complete the given tasks - mainly mulching and tidying the grounds and gardens of the Domain.

Above: Zico & Evander working together to fill the barrows

Below: Jake and Tom Drumm two senior boys digging into the mulch

After frequent advertising through the Treacy Facebook page and the daily notices, the first weekend we had 23 boys ready for the task. Although a new experience for virtually all the boys, a great attitude and a little determination saw the first week become a huge success laying the platform for the coming weeks. The second week was much easier to get Treacy students to come with Treacy boys who were there spreading the word of service to their friends leading to 28 boys all ready again to get into the service that lay ahead. Cheerful spirits again shone through as a key to getting heaps of work done and leading into the last week it saw many new boys wanting to join to get in for the last session of house service. Again thanks to the boys who did the service spreading the word of the house service our last week was the most successful with a total of 30 boys showing up and getting the job done. Overall a total of approximately 60 different boys participated in the house service this year, with 10 of them doing 6 hours of service.

All of this could not have been done without the generous efforts of Mr Kalinowski and all the other Treacy house staff involved over the three weeks of service (9 house staff in all) who took time out of their weekend, to considerably supervise and help out their house students and the Treacy House as a whole. After all the Domain had given to us it was time we gave back to something that is used extensively by our school wide community, to repay it for its usefulness to us over the many years.

Rail Safety Week 2015 is from 10th to 16th August. KiwiRail and TrackSAFE are asking whanau and caregivers to talk to their children about staying safe around the railway.

Children need to know:

- the new electric trains in Auckland are faster and quieter
- trains can come from both directions at any time, and in quick succession
- to stay alert, remove headphones, look both ways for trains and always wait for the bells and lights to stop before crossing the tracks
- the only safe and legal place to cross tracks is at a designated level crossing

Check out tracksafe.co.nz for practical tips on how to stay safe around the railway – there's even a free downloadable simulator – experience being a train driver!

Organisations supporting Rail Safety Week include KiwiRail, TrackSAFE, Auckland Transport, Transdev Auckland, NZ Transport Agency and the New Zealand Police.

Focus on the motivation

Whilst on sabbatical I was asked (compelled) to do a bit more of the dinner cooking at home.

After a few brave but clearly failed attempts and much complaining from family members I began to realise the value of cooking an edible meal.

I now had motivation to cook well.

The problem with secondary school achievement is students may not get as many failed attempt chances as I did before they realise a better effort is required.

Allow me to bring this cooking analogy into my observations on boys' achievement:

Boys who have a precise goal in mind usually achieve it

Most boys are reluctant to commit towards a precise goal

The cause for this reluctance is lack of ambition (commonly mistaken for laziness)

The cause for this lack of ambition is lack of vision

If/when boys can see the value and relevance of academics, high motivation usually follows

You may have noticed the word "ability" was not mentioned in either the cooking analogy or my observations on boys' achievement. In my view you get the motivation right with boys the success will follow, but boys need to "see" what's possible before they commit. My suggestion is constantly talk to your sons about:

- areas of interest
- possibilities for their future
- requirements to get there

And most of all - encourage, affirm and be interested!

Looking forward to a good term.

God's Blessings

From the Assistant Headmaster (Middle School) Michael Mullin

Welcome back to the start of Term Three in the Middle School. The emphasis this term is on the students to be present in the classroom and focus on what they need to do to achieve to the best of their ability. To be present in the class it is crucial that students are getting to school on time. Please be vigilant with your son in ensuring he is at school on time, lateness only means that he will miss class time. Please make sure that he is also not missing days off school unless it is for an important occasion. It is important that with Parent Teacher interviews having just occurred that everyone; student, parents and teachers are all on the same page working towards success for each young man.

There is always a lot going on for Year 7 and 8 students and this term is no different. Here are a few, though not all activities that students are involved in:

DARE Programme

Life Education

Year 8 Retreats

Assumption Day Mass

Sports teams making finals

Sacramental Group - Baptism, Confirmation and Eucharist

AIMS Tournament

With so much going on it is important that everyone is informed of what is happening and when. Please use the school calendar found on the St Peter's College website as it is updated regularly and is a great source of information for all families.

Please be aware that incidents do occur with young men and when they do, St Peter's College has an excellent pastoral system in place to deal with all issues. The Head of Year will ensure that the correct information is gathered and that students are dealt with in a fair and even manner. At times this means that consequences will occur. Also your son will be looked after and guidance and care given when needed. If you become aware of any incidents or issues with your son, please get in contact the classroom teacher and this will be passed onto the Head of Year if necessary. Please let the school deal with this rather than trying to contact other parents as at times this confuses the issue. It is vital that school is made aware of these in all cases so that there are no ongoing issues here at St Peter's College.

MAORI LANGUAGE WEEK

27 July 2015 to 2 August 2015

Kia ora Koutou Katou (greetings all)

As St Peter's Te Reo programme from Yrs 7 to 9 is a compulsory subject we in fact celebrate the language of Aotearoa, all year round.

Although our programmes and practices such as the school haka and the blessing of school buildings can still be seen as lighter measures, recent research states the importance of these programmes as part of revitalising our language is as important as the more substantial initiatives such as kohanga reo and Immersion schools.

"Te reo gives us a distinctive edge in terms of supporting our economy, through Te reo and tourism and the like. It's not saying that everyone has to be highly proficient but embracing te reo as part of the unique element of New Zealand identity." Dr Rawinia Higgins (Victoria University)

(Thanks to George Kiwara (Acting Te Reo Teacher))

So this Maori Language Week, join with us to embrace the language of our ancestors. Some phrases you can use:

English	te Reo Māori (Māori)
Welcome	Haere mai / Nau mai
Hello (General greeting)	Kia ora, Kia ora rā kōrua (dl) Kia ora koutou (pl) Tēnā koe (sg/frm) Tēnā kōrua (dl/frm) Tēnā koutou (pl/frm)
How are you?	Kei te pēhea koe?
Reply to 'How are you?'	Kei te pai
What's your name?	Ko wai tōu ingoa?
My name is ...	Ko ... ahau
Good morning (Morning greeting)	Kia ora, Ata mārie, Mōrena
Good afternoon (Afternoon greeting)/evening	Kia ora
Good night	Pō mārie
Goodbye (Parting phrases)	E noho rā (said by person leaving) E haere rā (said by person staying) Hei kona rā (inf)
Have a nice day	Kia pai tō rā
Excuse me/Sorry	Arohaina mai
Get well soon	Kia piki te ora

Rugby

Thank you to the parents who hosted Gisborne Boys in the last weekend of the holidays. Four Gisborne teams enjoyed the hospitality of a large number of families.

It was a successful weekend for our teams The results were;

1st XV won - 32 – 22

2nd XV won – 8 – 6

U15 lost – 12 – 22

U14 won – 22 – 0

The U15's enjoyed a very successful tour of the South Island at the start of the Holidays. They recorded three wins from three games and were fantastic ambassadors for the school receiving positive comments on their behaviour and attitude throughout the trip. There results were;

vs St Bedes – 10 – 5 win

vs St Thomas – 41 – 7 win

vs Christchurch Boys – 28 – 18 win

Dr Longhurst works at the Musei Vaticani, in Rome as a researcher and scholar. His research and lectures encompass theology and the visual arts, theological aesthetics, religion and the arts, and sacred art and architecture.

This lecture looks at the construction and ornamentation of the new basilica of St. Peter, Rome as metaphor for building up the Church, and essential to the Church's structure. Exploring the stages of the basilica's building and elaborate decoration, will reveal the dynamic interplay between divine purpose and human free will. It will be seen how forces continue to shape the present-day basilica, offering a new dimension and exceptional mode of expression for humanity's spiritual growth.
