ENGLISH

Head of Faculty

Mr Stacy Humpage: shumpage@st-peters.school.nz

English Scholarship Level 4

Entry Requirements: Approval of Faculty

Course Description:

The English Scholarship programme gives students the opportunity to approach key texts and subject-related issues from a perspective that is similar to that which they will find at tertiary level study. Students will draw on their knowledge of English and other disciplines, past and present social and cultural movements, as well as critical discourse and literary theory. They will learn to synthesis this knowledge and apply it to texts and issues in a highly critical way. The comprehensive content knowledge and high-level critical evaluation involved in the programme are highly relevant, not only for further academic study in a range of disciplines beyond English (including History, Philosophy, Linguistics and Law), but also to the development of a more mature and sophisticated approach to opinions and ideas.

English Scholarship lessons are not unlike University. Students will be expected to have completed any required reading in order to take part in discussions from a well-informed point-of-view. They will be challenged by their teacher and their peers to articulate their opinions and ideas in a way that is concise and convincing. In turn, they will develop skills is properly appreciating views that may conflict with their own.

In short, this programme will challenge their assumptions and encourage greater complexity and critical evaluation in their thinking.

HUMANITIES

Head of Faculty

Mr Jakub Kalinowski: jkalinowski@st-peters.school.nz

Classical Studies Scholarship Level 4

The Scholarship exam rewards top Classics students with an academically distinguishing qualification as well as a monetary prize. It provides a challenging task for senior Classics students to undertake. The exam proper requires students to demonstrate high levels of analysis and critical thinking synthesised with precise, concise and logically developed answers; for the outstanding scholars, answers will further demonstrate significant levels of sophisticated insight, perception and independent reflection.

As of 2013, the updated exam format requires students to use their knowledge of the classical world (specifically the ancient contexts of Greece, Rome and the Near East) to demonstrate their ability to think critically about the ideas and values of the classical world. They will communicate their understanding through the use of primary and secondary source evidence in a range of integrated contexts, which may include history, literature, philosophy, architecture and / or art. Students at year 12 who are confident in their ability are encouraged to enter the class and learn the skills, with the aim of sitting the exam at year's end. All students in the A-level pathway will look to undertake it in their year 13 year.

In terms of specific skills, students who are confident writers, abstract and analytical thinkers, and proficient in communicating their ideas with sophistication are also encouraged.

The exam itself has two sections:

Section A - students need to choose two questions from an extensive list of ancient contexts. Our students are encouraged to choose those sections that directly overlap with content from the year 12 or year 13 courses:

- Alexander the Great
- Athenian Vase painting
- Virgil's Aeneid
- Homer's Iliad

Candidates will be required to draw on their knowledge from the CAIE course content, as well as specific content from Scholarship tutorials and their own wider reading.

Section B - students will be provided with 16 sources from either a Greek or Roman context; the sources will cover history, literature, architecture and art. Students will be asked a question reflective of either:

- Death and the Afterlife, with specific focus on attitudes to death and ritual;
- Empire and power, with specific focus on attitudes to warfare and conquest

History Scholarship Level 4

Course Description:

The Scholarship exam rewards top History students with an academically distinguishing qualification as well as a monetary prize. It provides a challenging task for senior History students to undertake. Scholarship students are required to demonstrate high-level critical thinking, write with confidence and persuasion, and be able to integrate, synthesise and apply own knowledge.

Students who gain high grades at CAIE AS History and/or NCEA Level 2 History are encouraged to take part in this programme. Additionally, confident writers, abstract thinkers as well as highly able English and Classical Studies students can make ideal candidates for this exam.

Scholarship workshops are provided to the students to adequately prepare them for the exam. Most of these are run during intervals and lunchtimes, as well as online through platforms like OneNote.

Exam format:

The exam format is decontextualised (not simply reliant on specific historic content knowledge or one specific context). However, students are strongly encouraged to apply their own knowledge and information gained from their learning of History from years 11-13 to the given focus area. The 3-hour exam asks student to write three essays using a set of 8-10 historical sources per question (primary and secondary), as well as their own knowledge. Candidates will be required to evaluate the evidence from the given sources and produce convincing piece of formal writing.

Assessment criteria:

Candidates must demonstrate their ability to:

- use highly developed knowledge to analyse and think critically about key historical ideas, and to develop an argument that demonstrates an understanding of a complex historical context(s) and setting(s).
- synthesise a highly-developed understanding of the context with ideas drawn from both the resource booklet provided and their own knowledge of complex historical contexts.
- evaluate historical relationships such as: 'cause and effect', 'continuity and change', 'past and present', 'specific and general', 'patterns and trends' and 'perspectives'.

Scholarship Science Level 4

Scholarship in the Sciences (Biology, Chemistry and Physics) gives students an opportunity to challenge themselves with higher order problems. The problems are based on the NCEA Level 3 curriculum and therefore may require the students to do additional work. Study towards a Scholarship examination should start at the beginning of the year 13 academic year.

Biology:

To support students in their studies the Biology department has many resources and runs timetabled sessions at which students are expected to tackle Scholarship questions. There is also a recommended reading list to encourage thinking "outside the box" and development of the student as a scientist in their own right. Mr Conor Shea is the teacher in charge.

TECHNOLOGY

Head of Faculty

Mr Jono Bay: jbay@st-peters.school.nz

Design and Visual Communication Scholarship Level 4

Assessment will be in the form of a portfolio. A portfolio is an organised collection of evidence that clearly communicate the candidate's knowledge, understanding, and skills relevant to the Design and Visual Communication Scholarship performance standard. Evidence may be drawn from one major unit of work, or multiple units of work, provided they are linked and integrated in generating a coherent body of material.

Candidates should develop their ideas within the context of a design brief or briefs, which should draw evidence on any aspect associated with spatial or product design. Candidates will need to produce evidence at an advanced level and of an in-depth nature specifically in one of these areas. The essential nature of evidence being sought lies in the clear demonstration of quality idea generation; idea refinement and resolution; visual communicating of design thinking; and the visual promotion of selected ideas. It should be noted that this is in addition to the communication and design skills required at Level 3.

Candidates will need to demonstrate the ability to do each of the following:

- Generate a series of design ideas that consider and interrogate divergent and convergent possibilities, utilising idea initiation, material and strategies.
- Evolve ideas in response to a design context that integrate and synthesise relevant design considerations.
- Resolve design ideas creatively with depth of consideration and insight.
- Use visual techniques and strategies to communicate the on-going act of designing and the design narrative.
- Employ presentation techniques to promote selected ideas in a coherent and convincing manner with visual impact.

THEOLOGY AND PHILOSOPHY

Head of Faculty:

Dr Dan Stollenwerk: dstollenwerk@st-peters.school.nz

Religious Studies Scholarship Level 4

The Religious Studies Scholarship came into being in 2020. The inaugural theme was “the influence of great thinkers on religion”. The theme for 2021 is “Religion and diversity”.

The Scholarship paper consists of but two questions. Students choose one and write up to three hours on that one question.

The question would normally consist of a quote from a well-known thinker then a question that links the quote to the theme for the year.

The scholarship essay is judged on three skills:

1. Analysis and critical thinking: the examination of key assumptions and alternative points of view; perception and insight which involve empathetic understanding and a grasp of implicit ideas;
2. Integration, synthesis, and application of highly developed knowledge, skills, and understanding to complex situations: forming relationships and connections between religious ideas; seeing application and implication beyond an immediate context;
3. Logical development, precision and clarity of ideas: accurate, non-pejorative and consistent use of language to produce a valid argument; convincing communication demonstrating originality and thorough exploration of ideas.

Over the years the Theology and Philosophy department has developed a well-thought-out syllabus of some of the most influential of Western philosopher and theologians. Class time is spent both discussing the material and training students to write university – and scholarship – quality essays.
